

The hounds found the scent again and we were off for another gallop, and this time I jumped a coop!

