

The fox found a hole, called an “earth” in foxhunting, and went to ground, safe and sound to chase another day!

