

Nature conservancy is important when participating with horses and hounds because if we don't have open space we have no place to ride and take care of the hounds and horses.

If we have no space we can't ride and exercise animals. For horses and hounds to live they need space to run around and get exercise. If they don't have any space to exercise they will be unhealthy and unfit.

Space is important because without it we can not Fox hunt, exercise horses and have a space for hounds and horses to live.

In conclusion nature conservation is important when participating with horses and hounds because if we do not have open space to ride and take care of the hounds and horse.
